

Eisai (Singapore) Pte Ltd

ONCOLOGY ASSOCIATE

We are currently looking for an Oncology Associate to join our Oncology sales team.

Responsibilities:

- Utilise clinical knowledge to convey scientific information on Eisai product benefits to customers, in order to drive business results in your territory
- Strong understanding of clinical management within an institution, and how Eisai products can benefit patients
- Establish, develop and maintain positive customer relationships
- Analyse your territory's potential and opportunities; working closely with the commercial & medical teams
- Track sales and patient numbers by customers
- Submit timely reports for your territory as required

Requirements:

You should possess at least a Bachelor Degree in Life Sciences, Biotechnology or its equivalent and having at least 1-year pharmaceutical sales experience will be advantageous.

You have a proven ability to network and build strong relationships with customers and a strong track record. Your communication skills enable you to carry out discussions on latest oncology developments including clinical papers and discussions on treatment options with Oncologists.

You are an aggressive professional with a positive mindset, highly motivated and independent in carrying out your tasks.

You value honest and open exchange of opinion and possess the highest standard of personal and professional ethics, and compliance while promoting the Company's hhe corporate image.

You are a Class 3 licence holder with your own transport to facilitate your work requirements.

Eisai provides a competitive package commensurate with experience.

To apply, please email your resume to esn-admin@eisai.com.sg by 29 Nov 2019.